

CAMPAIGN IN ILLINOIS AT FLOOD TIDE

Record Registration is Expected in Illinois This Fall

By ALLEN L. DALRYMPLE
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Chicago, Sept. 29.—(AP)—With one of the most interesting national campaigns in history in full swing, and state candidates assiduously attacking individual and party records, four Illinois cities opened their registration books today in preparation for the November 6 election.

Chicago, with 1,600,000 eligible voters, expected to register approximately 800,000, leaving the remainder for the second registration, day October 16. Indications for a record enrollment were equally good in Chicago Heights, Summit and Cicero.

The unprecedented activity in both Democratic and Republican organization work on the part of women, and the interest generally displayed by them in the issues and candidates gave assurance of a huge feminine registration.

"Cities of the state operating under boards of election commissioners, as Chicago and suburbs, will hold their registrations October 6 and 16. The other communities have what is called revision days, three weeks and one week before election, in which voters who have changed their addresses may register."

Was Avalanche of Words
The end of the week finds the lower part of the state emerging from under an avalanche of words, turned out by the busy crews of Democrats and Republicans who traveled by train, automobile and motor bus, holding two and three meetings a day.

Both parties, as they drew breath for the week end, renewed their claims on the state for November and laid plans for Monday's assault.
Floyd E. Thompson, Democratic nominee for governor, having completed yesterday his ninety-first address, will make fifteen more speeches next week, in addition to those by A. J. Cermak, senatorial nominee, and others on the ticket. Mr. Thompson lays claim to having made more campaign speeches than any other candidate in Illinois.

The Republican program, no less strenuous, covers twenty-three counties and includes 33 mass meetings. As last week, the party will travel in two motor buses and will include Louis L. Emmerson, for governor, Ruth Hanna McCormick, candidate for congress, and Otis F. Glenn, senatorial nominee.

Religious Issue Up
Official cognizance of the religious issue was taken when Thomas F. Donovan, national Democratic committeeman and state campaign manager, made public a statement charging that women were distributing on suburban trains about Chicago anti-Catholic pamphlets.

"I do not blame those poor dupes who distribute them," said the committeeman, "as much as I do the leaders who employ them." He called attention to the fact that it was against the law to distribute such pamphlets. No public recognition of Mr. Donovan's charges was made by the Republican county committee, held responsible by him for the distribution.

The heavy exchange of accusations between the Republican and Democratic candidates for governor continued throughout the week—Mr. Thompson demanding an explanation of Mr. Emmerson's connection with the Ridge Farmers Bank at Springfield, and the Republican nominee demanding to know whether Mr. Thompson was running as a Democrat or an Independent.

Silent on His Ticket
Thompson, throughout the campaign, has made no plea for Anton J. Cermak, candidate for senator, or other members of the state ticket and he has made no public endorsement or comment on the policies advocated by Al Smith and the national Democratic ticket," said Mr. Emmerson at Carrollton.

"I will tell you the reason for his silence on the liquor question. He is trying to play both ends against the middle. In dry communities downstate he hopes he will be taken for a dry if he keeps silent. In wet communities he hopes he will be taken for a wet because of the nullification attitude of the Democratic party."

In the meantime Mr. Thompson was busy.

"The taxpayers of this state have suffered long enough from the misrule of the group in control of the state and I think they are going to pay more attention to the character of the man presenting himself for state office than to party labels," he said in an address at Taylorville.

As to the Republican nominee and the Ridge Farmers Bank, "Mr. Emmerson knows when he provided the money from his own funds for this election and we would be glad to hear from him when that was. The bank records show the stock was issued in 1914."

CONTRIBUTIONS FOR STORM VICTIMS ARE COMING IN BETTER

Lee County Fund Is Still Far Short of the Sum Required

Sixteen contributions to Lee county's share of the American Red Cross fund for the relief of storm victims in Florida and Porto Rico, several of them for substantial amounts, were reported to W. C. Durkin, treasurer of the Lee County Chapter, yesterday, bringing the total of subscriptions by citizens of this county to $158.

The amount is far short of the county's quota of $700, its share of the $5,000,000 which American Red Cross officials hold is absolutely needed to give the most essential aid to the storm victims, to clothe and feed those whose everything was lost in the hurricane and floods, and to check the spread of disease in the afflicted sections. FIND KIDNAPER'S FARM BUT FARMER HAD TAKEN FAMILY

Billy Ranieri Recognizes Donkey, Dog and Pony on Place

Chicago, Sept. 29.—(AP)—A donkey, a dog and a pony have become state evidence against the accused kidnaper of little Billy Ranieri.

The pets were found last night, just as Billy had said they would be when authorities located the farm where for 13 days the abductors held Billy captive for $60,000 ransom.

"There's Spotty!" That's him!" exclaimed the eager lad as a speckled hound playfully wagged a tail and sidled up to Billy while deputy sheriffs and police looked on. The pony and the donkey too, were recognized by Billy.

The farm and all the animals were there, all right, but Angelo Cappilano and his family had fled. The authorities learned a hasty departure had been taken the day before when Cappilano had bundled his household effects and his children into their sedan and drove away.

Ending nearly a two weeks' search, the farm was located yesterday three miles from Kankakee, Ill., by a Kankakee detective who had been working on the kidnapping case since Billy was freed by his captors near Lockport, several miles north of the farm site. Billy and a group of Chicago police were taken to the farm last night for Billy to identify it. Authorities considered its discovery a necessary link in their prosecution of the men held as Billy's abductors.

Were His Own Children
Billy had spoken of several other children being at the farm but police were convinced they were not other kidnapped victims, merely children of the missing farmer.

Daughter of Family Found
The Cappilanos must forfeit one of their own children if they escape the police net that was being woven today, for a six year old daughter, Milly is in St. Mary's hospital at Kankakee. The girl, who was burned in a bonfire recently, told questioners she knew nothing of the kidnapping nor of her parents' sudden departure. A guard was stationed at the hospital to watch for members of the family who might call, and the police were confident the fugitives would be found before long.

Milly told the police there were ten children in her family. St. Viator's College, which was clearly seen from a window of the Cappilano farm house was the "brick building that looked like a hotel," described by Billy Ranieri.

MYSTERY BUNDLE LEFT ON STEPS; POLICE CALLED

Furtive Stranger Runs After Making Stealthy Call

Chicago, Sept. 29.—(AP)—A little man with a package under his arm stepped nervously from a taxicab on Cass street early today.

From under the rim of his low-drawn hat his eyes peered furtively up and down the street. Satisfied he was unobserved, he ran to the door-step of 735 Cass, deposited the package gingerly, then turned swiftly back to his cab and was whisked away into the night.

But a woman, seated at a window nearby had seen him. She had noted his furtive movements and the careful manner in which he had handled the suspicious-looking package; she telephoned police that a bomb had been planted. Then she stuck her fingers in her ears and waited for the detonation.

Police arrived. They circled the package cautiously. They went into a huddle as to way and means. They elected one of their number to pick up the parcel. He touched it carefully. Then he turned to his companions and said:

"This is more serious than a bombing, gentlemen. This is a case of abandonment."

The officers then returned to the police station with the two cunning little kittens.

ROCKFORD JURY ACQUITS HIDDEN INN DEFENDANTS

RoadHouse Trial Does Not Even Keep Jury Awake

After a trial, during which one juror fell asleep and another casually meandered away from his fellows and visited a restaurant for a light lunch, thus adding a quarter of an hour to its duration, a jury in Winnebago County Court in Rockford yesterday afternoon returned a verdict of acquittal in the trial of seven defendants, taken in the raid of Hidden Inn, near Byron, several weeks ago. They were accused of operating a gambling resort, but the jury required but two hours of deliberation to find them not guilty.

The charges were preferred following a raid on the Inn by the Rockford sheriff and his deputies Aug. 8, and it had been charged that the place was frequented by a large number of national guard officers from Camp Grant and civilians of both sexes.

SMALL BREWERY IS DISCOVERED WHEN SEARCHERS CALLED

Harry Wright Residence Raided and Owner Is Jailed

A small brewery with several patrons gathered about a table upon which were numerous foaming steins, was accidentally visited by a squad of officers from the sheriff's office and the police department yesterday afternoon in the extreme southeast part of the city. The officers were searching for a tramp who was reported to be carrying a revolver and was racing westward out of the city when last seen and stopped at the Harry Wright residence to make some inquiry. Sheriff Ward Miller and Chief Van Biller discovered the brewery when they went to the house to make an inquiry.

Sheriff Miller left officers in charge of the place and went to the court house where he swore out a complaint for a search warrant for the premises and returned. Almost 300 bottles of "home brew" were found in two small rooms and there was evidence that two jugs of moonshine liquor had been crashed in a clothes closet. The patrol wagon was filled with the beer seized in the raid and this was hauled to the county jail.

That evening, Wright was arraigned before Justice J. O. Shaulis on a charge of violation of the Illinois prohibition law and was held to the grand jury under bonds of $1,000. He was unable to furnish the amount and was returned to the county jail. According to the law enforcement officers, the Wright home has been the source of a great deal of complaint for some weeks.

Furnished Bond Today.
Harry H. Wright of this city, appeared before Judge William Leech in court today on this morning on an information charging violation of the Illinois prohibition laws. He was released from the county jail upon the furnishing of a bond in the sum of $3,000 and the case set for trial November 6.

Champaign Bandit Made Farmer Drive Him to Chicago

Champaign, Ill., Sept. 29.—(AP)—Wounded in the arm and side by gunshot from Champaign police early yesterday, the second of a pair of automobile bandits kidnapped a farmer near here last night and forced him to drive to Chicago, where the robber climbed into a taxicab and disappeared. His companion was captured here yesterday after a running battle through the Champaign streets with a police rifle squad.

Paul Mathis, 28 year old farmer, was stuck in the mud with his truck last night when the man emerged from a field and assisted in releasing the car. Then he produced a revolver and ordered Mathis to drive the truck to Chicago. At Western Avenue and 49th Street the holdup man, who was wounded four times in the arm and side, left Mathis and the latter drove the entire 126 miles back to Urbana before reporting the incident to Sheriff Chet Davis.

The man captured yesterday, still refusing to reveal his name, was taken to a hospital at Charleston, Ill. The two had stolen an automobile from Albert Devill of Mattoon during the night and were stopped here by Champaign officers.

PROHIBITION IS AL'S THEME AT MILWAUKEE TALK

Gov. Smith Will Elaborate on His Wet Views This Eve

By D. HAROLD OLIVER
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 29.—(AP)—In this former brewing center Gov. Smith tonight will lay before a waiting electorate his detailed program for prohibition reform.

The speech, the sixth and last of his two weeks' western invasion, will be the first devoted by the Democratic presidential candidate to the Eighteenth Amendment and Volstead Act since he advocated their modification in his acceptance speech at Albany August 22.

With only this one subject as his text, it is expected that the nominee will elaborate to some extent on the stand he took in that address for state control of liquor sales and in the side discussion of prohibition at Omaha September 18, when, at the close of one of several question periods, he answered a newspaper advertisement with the declaration that he did not consider liquor "the great issue" of the campaign.

As is his custom, Gov. Smith worked late on a draft of his speech last night. A press conference was the first engagement facing him after breakfast today.

It then had been planned to take him on a tour of the city, probably for a visit of Marquette University, whose students, in brown robes and college flippers, turned out in large numbers last night and paraded several miles alongside the automobile procession.

SHERIFF MILLER BREAKS UP HOBO CAMP NEAR CITY

One Knight of the Road Dashed to Safety but Left Valuables

A well furnished hobo camp south of the city limits along the Illinois Central right of way, was the scene of two visits of officers yesterday afternoon and evening, and the equipment, which had been gathered together piece-meal for a week was destroyed in a huge bonfire. Complaints of drunken brawls, the result of canned heat orgies and continued begging in that immediate neighborhood, resulted in Sheriff Miller leading a party of deputies to the camp at 1 o'clock yesterday.

About a dozen men were gathered about the camp fire, some quaffing canned heat from the original containers. Each individual was informed that his presence was no longer desired in Lee county and he was directed the shortest route to another clime with orders not to delay. One of the party dashed through the woods when the officers approached the camp and one of the deputies was dispatched to bring him back. Three shots from the deputy's revolver failed to halt the escaping tramp, but only served to increase his speed.

The shots attracted attention of neighbors in the vicinity and a hurry up call was received at the police station, other officers responding and hurrying to the scene. The sprinter of the camp succeeded in evading his pursuer and boarded a south bound freight train. As he ran he threw away articles in his clothing which the articles thrown away, the officers recovered the package containing a large number of 38 caliber soft nosed cartridges and a small flash light. In the package was also found a set of keys which would fit any of the late model Ford cars.

Last night Sheriff Miller and his forces received another call to the hobo camp. Three transients had returned and finding their equipment demolished, a quarrel ensued. Again the transients were dispersed and ordered to seek another location for their camp.

WAIT WORD FROM WAR DEPT. ON THE BRIDGE

County Superintendent of Highways Fred W. Leake announced this morning that the plans and specifications for the Peoria avenue bridge were now completed and that all that stands in the way of the beginning of work on the structure, is the final permit from the war department. The county superintendent of highways and the road and bridge committee of the board of supervisors, have hastened their part of the program and are ready to start work at the earliest possible date.

It was also announced that the work of taking soundings and making borings to ascertain the necessary foundations for the proposed structure would not be necessary as these had been made some years ago and are now on file. The city officials have forwarded all of the preliminary plans to the war department and are now awaiting their approval and the necessary permit to start construction.

Provided that little or no delay is experienced, it is expected that the contract can be awarded late this fall and that work can be under way before the first of the year.

SILVER RADIANCE
Full-orbed, and breaking through the scattered clouds.
Shows her broad visage in the crimsoned east.
Turned to the Sun direct, her spotted disk—
Where mountains rise, umbrageous dales descend,
And caverns deep, an optic tube discovers,
A smaller Earth—gives all his blaze again.
Void of his flame, and sheds a softer day.
Now through the passing cloud she seems to stop.
Now up the pure cerulean rides sublime.
Wide the pale deluge floats, and streaming mild
O'er the skirted mountain to the shadowy vale,
While rocks and floods reflect the quivering gleam.
The whole air whitens with a boundless tide
Of silver radiance, trembling round the world.

Fortieth Wedding Anniversary Celebrated

On Wednesday, Sept. 19, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Turner, of Amboy, celebrated their fortieth wedding anniversary. At noon dinner was served to the immediate relatives. All the children and the eighteen grandchildren were present. The children who were present were Harry Turner of Ashton; Mrs. Eva Shaw of Amboy; Mrs. Nancy Butler of Sublette; Mrs. Alice Schinzer of Ashton; and Raymond and Luther at home. A niece, one great niece, and two great nephews, were also present, as were Charles and Joseph Baldwin, brothers of the bride, a sister, Mrs. Sarah Feldkircher of Rochelle; Mrs. Sarah Cooch, who was present at the wedding forty years ago, was also a guest.

In the evening the neighbors and friends gathered to celebrate the happy occasion.

Cards were played and a good time enjoyed. A rousing charivari was also given, in the evening. Delightful refreshments of ice cream and cake were served. At a late hour the departed bride and bridegroom of forty years ago many such happy anniversaries.

THE SQUEEZE PLAY—3
Another example of the squeeze play follows. In this illustration spades are trump and the declarer is on the lead. Eight rounds have been completed. The declarer has learned the exact positions of the remaining cards from the bidding, leads and signals—he proceeds to make all five remaining tricks.

Dummy—spades none; hearts 5; diamonds none; clubs K 5 4 3.
East—spades none; hearts 10 9 8 7; diamonds none; clubs 7.
Declarer—spades 8 7; hearts A Q; diamonds none; clubs 2.
West—spades none; hearts K J; diamonds A; clubs Q J.

The only way in which the declarer can make all of the remaining tricks is to lead the 8 of clubs and follow it with the 7 of clubs. West will be forced to weaken either his heart or club suit, both hearts in the declarer's hand are good and he wins the last trick by leading to the king of clubs in the dummy. If west discards from the club suit, the declarer leads to the king of clubs in the dummy and the remaining clubs are winning tricks.

MENU for the FAMILY

BY SISTER MARY
BREAKFAST—Baked pears, cereal, cream, crisp bacon, scrambled eggs, toast, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON—Vegetable soup, croutons, fruit salad, whole wheat bread and cream cheese sandwiches, milk, tea.

DINNER—Slice of ham baked in milk, baked potatoes, buttered cauliflower, tomato and lettuce salad, junket ice cream, Cousin Julia's cake, milk, coffee.

Cousin Julia's Cake

Two eggs, 3-4 cup light brown sugar, 11-4 cup flour, 4 tablespoons butter, 1-2 cup sweet milk, 11-2 teaspoons baking powder, 1-2 teaspoon cinnamon, 1-8 teaspoon salt.

Cream butter and beat in sugar which has been rolled smooth. Save one whole white and part of second egg white for frosting. Beat yolks and one-half white of eggs until very light. Add to creamed butter and sugar. Mix and sift flour, baking powder, salt and cinnamon. Turn milk into bowl in which eggs were beaten in order to rinse off any egg clinging to sides of bowl.

Add milk and dry ingredients alternately to first mixture, beating to make smooth. Pour into a square oiled and floured cake pan and bake 40 minutes in a moderate oven. Let cool and cover with the following frosting.

Frosting

One and one-half egg whites, 1-2 cup brown sugar, 1-4 teaspoon vanilla.

Roll sugar to make perfectly smooth. Beat whites of eggs until stiff and dry. Beat prepared sugar into whites. Add vanilla and spread roughly on cake. Put into a quick oven to brown top. The heat should be at the top of the oven.

The entire rule for the cake can be doubled with success and baked in a dripping pan. Double each ingredient, frosting and all, using one whole egg and three yolks in the cake and three whites for the frosting.

The WOMAN'S DAY by ALLENE SULLIVER

Have you noticed a breach of promise case in your paper for some time? Can it be that the absurdity and injustice and folly of them has suddenly smitten the judiciary mind in the same manner as it has come to frown upon alimony requests when the woman is hale and hearty, and there are no children?

Now I am not going on the mat to declare that no breach of promise suit is ever justifiable. But I do say with a loud firm voice that about 99 per cent are practically nothing but a form of legal blackmail.

In the first place, though the law gives men and women equal rights in bringing breach of promise cases, it has always been almost entirely a female custom.

While insisting on her right to wage breach of promise suits, woman has also insisted on her right to jilt suitors of whom she has grown tired, no matter if she has promised to marry them and sworn to be faithful unto death. In fact, so taken for granted is a woman's right to change her mind about whom she will and will not marry, that we have coined the half-humorous, half-condemning word of "coquette" for those ladies who toss a man's affections aside as carelessly as an old shoe.

But when a man does the same thing, oh lordy, lordy!

Aside from the injustice of breach of promise suits being almost entirely a woman's game, they are utterly obsolete in an age which assumes that any healthy able-bodied woman without children is exactly as capable of earning her own living as some man is capable of earning it for her.

Modern women should be insulted by the law's very assumption in holding breach of promise suits legal that woman's only economic hope and salvation is through marriage.

Breach of promise suits put women way back in caveman days when the oversupply of females was contrasted with the males who got killed off on the warpath.

Fathers with the economic burden of daughters were sometimes able to sell them to some young male who could accept the economic burden in exchange for a drudge and a mother of his dozens of children.

But today with the gateways of every profession and business open to her, with economic security of her own making and not that enjoyed at the whim of another, woman no more needs economic justice (?) for the loss of a prospective marriage than she needs to marry for money reasons.

The breach of promise law is an insult to the highest type of modern woman!

REV. STEPHENSON PAID TRIBUTE TO DR. E. C. LUMSDEN

Eulogy was One of Outstanding Tributes at His Funeral

The tribute to Dr. E. C. Lumsden, read by his pastor, Rev. A. T. Stephenson as the District Superintendent's funeral Thursday afternoon bespoke a great personal love for the departed. Rev. Stephenson said:

The sun of a resplendent day is set. A victorious life has come to its coronation.

There is a word in Ian McLaren's classic "Beside the Bonnie Briar Bush" that is perfectly apt and timely here today. As you know, old Drumsheugh had become the benefactor of George Howe and because of this fatherly interest the lad was enabled to receive a college training and equip himself for the ministry of his Lord to which he had felt a call. George had returned from school, and with flaming ambition, was looking toward the day when he could give himself in complete service to his calling. But unexpectedly he was laid low with an illness from which he never recovered. Old Drumsheugh takes himself to the home of Margaret Howe, the mother of George, and with a very significant word expresses a common grief when he says, "Margaret, Howe, there is only one heart in Drumsheugh today and that heart is sore."

There is only one heart in all these whereabouts this day and that heart is sore and broken.

We have been plunged into the deep shadows, but the shadow is so deep only because the light of a previous day has been so bright. Our grief is so oppressive only because of the fact of a sense of loss which is ours in the departure of a superlatively lived life.

I am perfectly aware of the perils which always attend an occasion of this sort which is the peril of extravagance and waste. It is easy to eulogize and sometimes it is done unadvisedly. We are confronted with no peril of this sort this day. The life of our dear friend makes extravagance impossible and relieves us from the peril of any embarrassment of this sort.

There is, however, a certain restraint which is over us and that is the restraint of the desire which we know would be that of our brother had he have had opportunity to express it. His very natural and becoming sense of modesty would say to us this day, "Be careful, be careful," but this is an hour our tongues cannot be stilled and when speech will not be hushed. Even the authority of modesty will not restrain our praise.

Already many highly complimentary things have been said concerning our friend and brother and many more can yet be said. A thousand memories come flooding our souls just now.

There are those here who shared in those intimate fraternal days of college life; there are experiences which come back to such that speak in a myriad way of the loving life of this soul. There are those here today who have sat under the ministry of this man and many who were sheep of his shepherding, whose kindly and loving oversight was such to inspire the deepest regard and the most loyal sense of appreciation.

There are others of us here today who know the man in an administrative capacity. We have sat with him in the councils of the conference. We have had opportunity to see the greatness of his heart and the motives of love which actuated his every endeavor.

All of these experiences which now are recalled with loving memory are but evidences which speak to us of the man. There are many ways by which we might characterize him, but just now it seems to me there is only one word which is adequate and expressive, and that is the "Great of Heart." His was a heart which made love easy for him and which begat love within everyone with whom he came in contact.

There are many things by which men live, some things, I suppose, we can lay our hands upon and see with the naked eye. Things of sense and of touch. But surely that one great thing by which all men most live is something which is invisible. It is real but it cannot be touched; we sense it but cannot describe it. I do not know what name to give it. Some may call it spirit; some may call it morale; some may call it personality, but whatever it may be called, it was that which was the large possession of our friend and brother.

Perhaps I can best illustrate that which I mean by citing an experience. It was not often that Dr. Lumsden was privileged to grace our congregation with his presence, but whenever possible he was here for such services of worship as called him. It was upon one of these occasions he was present, sitting in the rear of the church in that becomingly unobtrusive manner of his. One of the members of this church entered the side door with me. He looked over and saw Dr. Lumsden sitting in his pew. No word had been spoken by either to the other, but this friend said to me, "Ah, there is Dr. Lumsden. My, but how I love that man." No benefactions had ever been bestowed by Dr. Lumsden upon this friend, he had done no more for him than he had done for any other man in the regular pastoral rounds of his ministry, and yet there was that elusive something in the life of this man that made him just a little different from the rest of us.

So by whatever other word we may use to designate him, truly he must be characterized by this word, Dr. Lumsden, the "Great of Heart."

The experience which has come upon us by this tragic ending would surely leave us of all creatures most despairing were it not for certain sure comforts which are ours. There is the comfort which comes to us out of the heritage of this life so well lived. There are some things that even death cannot remove, and though he has gone, there is a possession which is ours which comes in the memory of a life so beautifully lived and memory of which shall never perish from the earth.

That other comfort of us all, and that is the sure knowledge which is ours, that somewhere life shall be lived again. "I do not ask to see the distant scene, one step enough for me." Some of these days, please God, we too shall have laid our armor down and shall be given a new scepter of power and authority to go on with the work of the Master's Kingdom. When that day comes we know full well that one will be there to give us greeting and show us the way by his previous days of journeying. His name will be Ernest C. Lumsden, the "Great of Heart."

Someone one time said to Dr. Horace G. Bushnell, "Dr. Bushnell, when you have died and gone to your reward, he thinks I can see the angel who sits next to the throne of Christ say when they see you coming up the street, making your approach to the throne of the Master, 'Good Master, look, there comes one you know.'" Dr. Bushnell replied, "Maybe that will be true, but I am not so much concerned about that, but I do know in my heart that as I make my approach to the throne of the Christ that I can say in my heart 'there is one whom I know and whom I know and whom I have loved all of the years of my earthly journey.'"

Our good friend and brother has made his approach into the pearly gates and I have no doubt that already he has been introduced to the Christ and when the Christ saw him coming he said in his heart, "There comes one I know." But with equal emphasis the child of Christ heart has said, "There is one I know, for I have loved him all the days of my life."

Good-bye, dear friend, and yet it is only good-night, for the day cometh when early in the dawn we will say each to the other, "Good morning, and good morning forever." Amen.

CALHOUN LET THE SENATE SING OUT
One hundred years before Charles G. Dawes, who once bawled out the Senate and who was subsequently twitted by some senators for his alleged presidential aspirations, John C. Calhoun of South Carolina was vice president under John Quincy Adams and Andrew Jackson, successively.

Being a very strong states' rights man and regarding senators as so many ambassadors to the capital, Calhoun let the boys say what they pleased, insisting that he had no power to call them to order for words in debate.

Senator John Randolph of Roanoke abused the privilege often. Once he began a speech to the chair with: "Mr. Speaker! I mean Mr. President of the Senate and would-be president of the United States, which God in His infinite mercy avert!"

HEALTH BROKEN IN RHEUMATISM; LADY IN MISERY

To Use Arms Meant Intense Agony; Despaired of Relief; New Gly-Cas Like Magic.

Since its introduction here a few weeks ago, this great new vegetable compound, Gly-Cas, has fairly astonished many suffering and ailing men and women right here in Dixon and vicinity by relief has given them from stomach, liver, bowel, blood, nerve troubles, rheumatism, neuritis. On every side now local people are talking of how this new medicine relieves awful gases of the stomach and bowels; bloating, belching, heartburn, headache, sourd burning pain in stomach, chest or throat; breath shortness, agonizing side and back pains; sleeplessness, vomiting from poisonous liver bile; awful catarrhal affections and the like—all common, yet distressing ills of the stomach, liver, bowels, blood, nerves. "I was broken in health and almost entirely down with rheumatism when I began taking this Gly-Cas, but I say truthfully that about a three months' treatment of this medicine has made me a practically new person," was the remarkable recent statement of Mrs. Nancy Williams, 514 W. Second St., Dixon, to the Gly-Cas Man who was at the Campbell White Cross Pharmacy.

"I endured the agonies of my rheumatism for over a year without relief," she continued. "This continued suffering gradually wore me down until I despaired of ever having a well day again. Not once in a while, but day and night I had a burning, piercing pain across my shoulders and it was only with much effort and intense pain that I could use my arms. Needless to say I could not do any kind of housework."

"But this Gly-Cas certainly has proved a wonderful remedy for my case. That former burning, piercing pain that was constantly in my back and across my shoulders has been ended by your medicine and to be brief, I am now free from that former torturing rheumatism. With the wearing effect of this affliction on my system ended, I have regained my strength and health. I perform work and duties in my home now that I surely could not do before. 'This wonderful medicine, Gly-Cas deserves no end of praise and I can say it was the only medicine that could actually reach my case and eliminate that agonizing rheumatic condition.'"

Gly-Cas sold in Dixon at the Campbell White Cross Pharmacy, Sold Franklin Grove, O. S. Ives; Polo, C. R. Clothier; Ashton, G. R. Charters; Amboy, Aschenbrenner Drug; Compton, W. H. Hills; Rochelle, Barker & Sullivan, and by leading druggist in all surrounding towns.—Adv.

NOT OUT OF THE JUNGLE YET.

Three people died in New Britain, Conn., after drinking some home brew. Their deaths came so quickly that the police got suspicious; and, analyzing the beer, they found it had been doped with cyanide, one of the most deadly poisons known.

An investigation followed, and Samuel Weiss, brother of one of the victims, was arrested. In a short time he confessed. He had poisoned the beer to kill his brother, with whose wife he was infatuated. He was sorry the other two men had died, but that couldn't be helped.

Instead of being remorseful, Weiss expressed sorrow that his brother had died so easily. He had hoped, he said, that his brother would "die like a dog, in the yard." A little later he began to weep; but he assured the officers that his conscience was not bothering him. He was weeping because he feared he himself would be hanged.

That little tale, taken from the daily papers, is about as depressing an item of news as you could find. The shocking brutality and callousness of the murderer, coupled with his craven fear for his own hide, reveal those murky depths in human nature that we ordinarily keep covered. Worse yet, we know that there are reserves of untapped cowardice and cruelty in most of us that make us, remotely, kin to this poisoner; and it isn't a pleasant thought.

Yet we needn't let it discourage us. After all, it is only a few centuries since that sort of conduct was the rule and not the exception. The human race started its long upward climb by being cowardly, cruel, vengeful and murderous beyond belief. There were few restraints or niceties of conduct in the stone age. If a man wanted something his neighbor owned, he knocked his neighbor on the head and took it, provided he was big enough; and in all the world there was no one to say he was wrong.

That happens to be the sort of foundation on which we have built. Amazingly, incomprehensibly, people have groped upward from that rude jungle law. They have erected temples, written music, framed high codes of conduct for themselves, learned how to sacrifice their own lives for intangible ideals, taught themselves to master their own desires in the interests of order and decency; and the spectacle is both astounding and inspiring.

It happens that the battle is not yet won. The jungle man still exists, below the surface. Once in a while he breaks loose and we have a lynching, a Snyder-Gray case or a spectacle like this one in New Britain. But we have reached the point where such things can shock and horrify us, at least. If our victory isn't complete, we have the vision of what it should be.

WHEN THE PHONE BELL RINGS.

We are pretty well used to the telephone, which always can be counted on to ring just when you are taking a bath, drifting off to sleep or taking the ashes out of the furnace. But Europeans consider the telephone a nuisance and an invader of privacy.

It is interesting to learn that Alexander Graham Bell, who invented it, eventually came to look on it as the Europeans do. Catherine Mackenzie, in a forthcoming biography of the inventor, says:

"Bell deplored the casual manners his invention had introduced. Nobody, he said, would dream of coming to one's house and demanding an audience while one dined, bathed or slept; but everyone made these peremptory demands by telephone."

A European doubtless would say that Bell's dismay was, after all, only justice.

Edna Ferber, vexed by the customs officers' search at the pier, now is campaigning for Al Smith. If you've had to stand in the street cars on your way downtown, it looks as though Al's your man.

An archaeologist found fossils 70,000,000 years old in the Gobi desert. Probably some printed relics of stories from old Sivas telling how Coach Whoosis fears he's going to lose the opening game.

Al Smith is picking up statesmanlike ways rapidly. There's more discussion about his statement on farm relief than there was even over President Coolidge's "do not choose."

With its splendid aims, don't you suppose Chicago should be the greatest place in the world for finishing schools?

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

Twas fun to watch the whole bunch stuff, and finally they had enough. "We'd better stop our eating," said one Tyn, with a smile. "This food, I must admit, is slick, but there's no need of getting sick. Let's put the rest away so we can eat it after while."

"A great idea," Scouty said. "Come on now, let's go right ahead and pack it in a basket. It won't take us very long." The Tynmites all set to work. Then one bird shouted, "We won't shirk. We'll gladly help you. Watch us and you'll see that we are strong." Each little bird produced a thrill by picking things up in its bill. "You sure are smart," said Coppy. "And you're kind to give us aid. We Tyns will be more than fair, and we see that you all get your share of anything we find to eat. But now 'tis time we played."

So all the bunch began to roam, till Coppy cried, "Say, here's some fun."

Instead of chasing wildly round, let's play some hide and seek. You birds can hide up in a tree where you will be real hard to see. I'll be the first one to be it. I'll promise I won't peek.

Then Coppy started counting loud, and off ran all the merry crowd. Soon Coppy cried, "I'm coming, so you'd best keep out of sight." Just then one Tyn, by a tree, yelled, "Come out, everyone. Oh, gee, the big black crow is running off with bread. That is not right."

Woe Coppy was the nearest lad to Mister Crow. This made him glad, because he quickly turned around and cried, "I'll catch the pest." The crow, still clinging to the bread, ran on. Though he was far ahead, brave Coppy started after him, and so did all the rest.

(The crow is held a prisoner in the next story.)

HOOVER ALPHABET

INTEGRITY

Hoover Bears a Name Above Reproach

Not one figure of the Peace Conference, but many, called him the single statesman of the war period who came out of the struggle with untarnished credit. Elements in Europe that would trust neither government nor official nor commission, trusted Herbert Hoover. When, after the war, the auditors closed up a sales-and-purchase account of $928,000,000, they added a voluntary statement that Hoover had never himself drawn a cent from these funds for any purpose whatsoever. To the Government of Paris the auditor submitted this enormous account for final scrutiny and approval. The French waved it aside. "We have tasks more pressing and fruitful," they said, "than questioning the integrity of Mr. Hoover."

This quotation from Will Irwin's recent biography shows something of Hoover's spotless integrity. Hoover's record, both in public and in private life, proves that he is a man to be trusted with the grave responsibility of the Presidency of the United States.

CHICAGO APARTMENTS TO WELCOME CHILDREN

Chicago — (AP) — Aerated garden apartments where children will be welcome are being built in the crowded near north side to be sold to wage earners.

The apartments, 600 of them with 3000 rooms, were made possible through the vision of Marshall Field III and the fortune he inherited from his merchant grandfather. The Field estate trustees will manage the project 15 years, by which time it is expected the apartments will have become the property of their occupants.

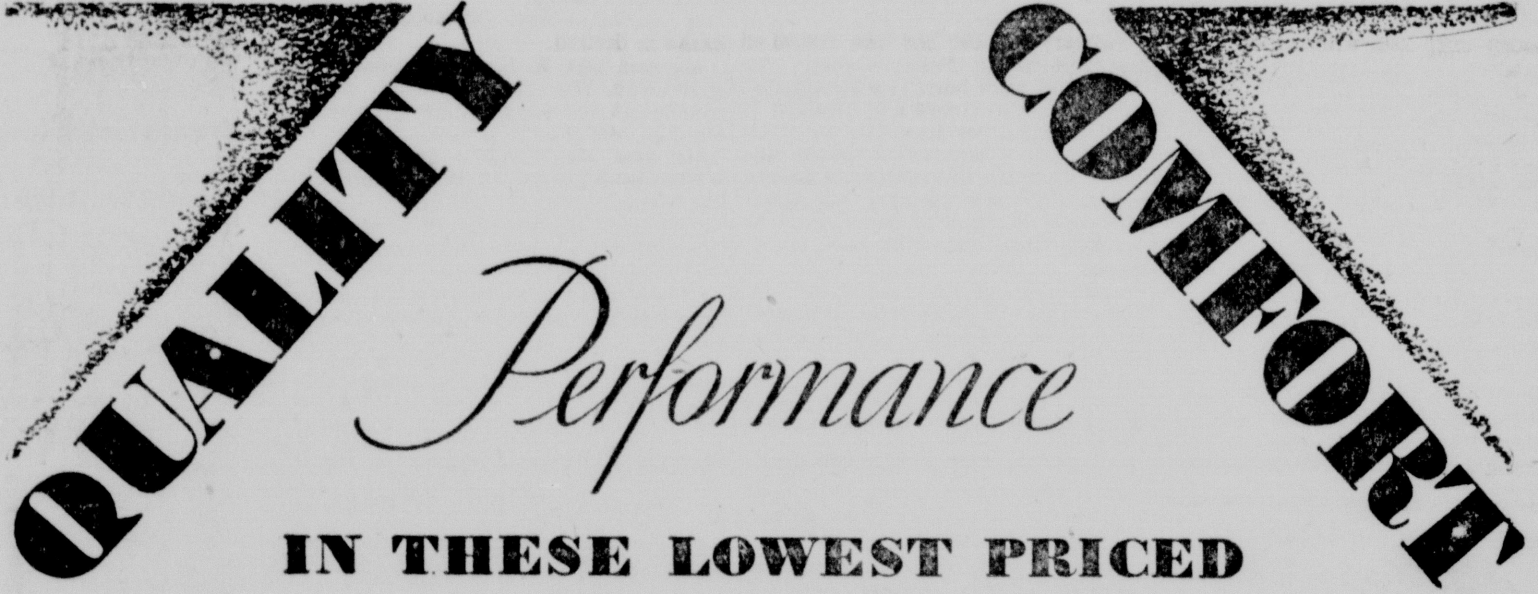

There will be nine five-story buildings, fronting on two square blocks and enclosing gardens and playground areas. They are to cost between $4,000,000 and $4,500,000.

The financial and legal work incidental to the beginning of construction was complicated because the site was in a congested and valuable real estate section. Seventy-five lots were purchased from 60 owners. Several vacating ordinances had to be pushed through the city council.

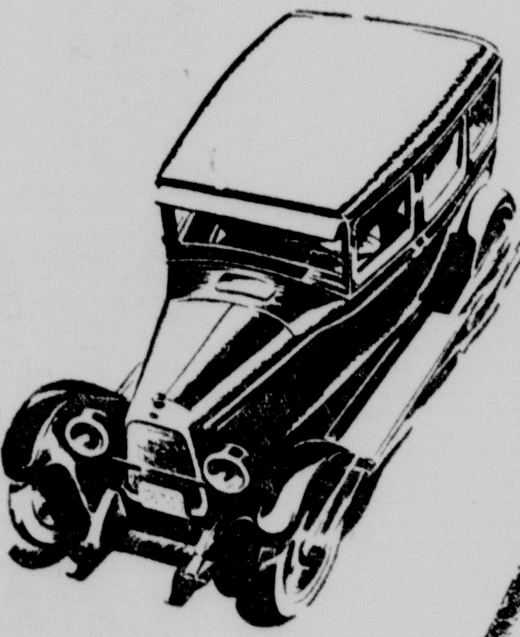

WHOLE LODGE WIPED OUT.

Washington, Sept. 28.—(AP)—Andrew A. D. He brought a donation of $5,000 from the imperial council of the Shrine.

Former Resident Dead
The Pocatiello (Idaho) Tribune of notice of the death of Jerry Kinney, a former Franklin Grove resident, who will be remembered by the readers of this column both in this place and Dixon.

Jerry Kinney, 67, retired veteran of Short Line, conductor and pioneer resident of Pocatiello, died at a hospital last night, following an attack of pneumonia. Besides his wife, the deceased is survived by a daughter, Mrs. O. H. Kimball, San Diego, Calif., five sons, and two sisters, Miss Mayme and Margaret Kinney of Chicago, Ill. He is also survived by six grand children and two great grand children.

At the time Mr. Kinney was retired on pension last May, he was the oldest conductor in point of service on the Oregon Short Line railroad. At the recent Democratic primaries, he was nominated Justice of the Peace by a large majority. He was a member of the O. R. C. and for years represented this order on the Short Line grievance committee.

Born in Franklin Grove, Ill., Mr. Kinney started his railroad career in the west as a brakeman on the Utah Northern in 1879. He worked in this capacity until 1882 when he accepted a position as yardmaster in Ogden for the Utah Central, where he was employed until 1915 when he entered the employ of the Short Line as section foreman of Owinza, near Shoshone, Idaho.

In 1889 he entered the train service as brakeman and was promoted to conductor in 1890 and worked in that capacity until last May when he was retired on a pension.

He took up his residence in Pocatiello in 1895 and loved here until the time of his death.

December 10, 1907, Mr. Kinney performed a feat that made him famous throughout the intermountain country. He plunged into icy waters of the Weiser river and saved the life of H. W. Lendenhall, a rancher, who while attempting to cross the river on a railroad trestle, was struck by the train of which Mr. Kinney had charge and hurled into the river forty feet below. The Tribune issue of December 12, 1907 carried the following account of this heroic act: Jerry Kinney of Pocatiello is a hero. Jerry is one of the most popular Short Line passenger conductors on the west end. Tuesday a man was struck by the engine hauling Jerry's train across the railroad bridge over the Weiser river. The man, who was H. W. Lendenhall, a Weiser rancher, fell into the torrent 40 feet below. Quick as a flash Jerry leaped in after the drowning man, towed him to shore and saved his life. The details of the occurrence is thus told in a special dispatch to the Boise Statesman from Weiser—H. W. Lendenhall, a rancher living one mile south of this place, was struck by engine No. 5, and hurled over the embankment, a distance of 40 feet or more into the river, which at this point is very deep. The injured man was saved from drowning by the bravery of Conductor Jerry Kinney of the train, who, at the risk of his own life, leaped into the stream and brought Lendenhall to the shore after a desperate struggle. The train was stopped quickly and Conductor Kinney leaped into the stream, which was very high because of the heavy rains the past week, and the water very cold. Kennedy reached Lendenhall and after a hard struggle succeeded in bringing the injured and half drowned man to shore. Kinney was about exhausted when he reached the bank and at one time it seemed as if both men would drown before help could reach them. Passengers on the train were loud in their praise of Conductor Kinney's bravery in risking his life in the cold and raging waters of the stream. Last fall, Mr. Kinney was injured in a collision of two mail trains and did not fully recover, being in poor health for a long time. Funeral services and burial services were conducted at Pocatiello, September 15.

Ida Lehman was born in Lee County, Illinois, August 16, 1865 and departed this life at her home in Franklin Grove, Illinois, September 20, 1921, at the age of 63 years 1 month and 14 days.

January 14, 1890 she was united in marriage to J. Frank Group. To this union were born two sons, Lloyd L., of Franklin Grove and Howard B., who preceded her in death ten years ago. Soon after her marriage she united with the Church of the Brethren and lived a faithful, consistent life until the time of her death. In October, 1892 she with her family moved to their present home in Franklin Grove.

She leaves to mourn her departure her husband, one son, Lloyd and two grandchildren, Barbara and Russell Group, and many other relatives and friends. She was a kind neighbor, a loving and dutiful wife and mother in the home where she will be missed greatly.

J. S. Tomkins returned yesterday morning from Denver where he had been attending the G. A. R. annual encampment. He reports a most enjoyable time.

Accidentally Shot
What might have been a very serious accident occurred Friday night, A. C. Ambler, night watchman, while in the office of the Beatrice Creamery Company, was displaying a new revolver to Douglas Stultz. In some manner while explaining about the gun, Mr. Ambler discharged it, the bullet entering the center of his stomach and plowing its course to the left. The wound bled profusely and at the Dixon hospital where he was immediately taken, it was found that the intestines were not penetrated and hence was not as serious as first thought. Mr. Ambler was brought home from the hospital Sunday afternoon and is fast recovering from the accident and will soon be able to resume his duties as night watchman. Chris Seebach has been acting in that capacity for Mr. Ambler.

The Science Club of the high school met Tuesday night at the home of Miss June Conlon. About twenty were present to enjoy the happy occasion. The evening was spent in playing games, after which refreshments were served.

Guests at the Gottfried Johnson home Sunday were: Mr. and Mrs. John Larson of this place, Mr. and Eugene Gibson, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Krempe of Dixon, and Miss Wetherholm of Chicago.

Claire Lehman of Riverside was a week end guest at the home of his mother, Mrs. E. J. Wolf. He was called here by the death of his aunt, Mrs. Frank Group.

Parent-Teachers Association will meet Friday evening, Oct. 12, in the school building. The Executive board of the association held a meeting Thursday evening at which time the following committees were appointed. Program—O. D. Buck, L. T. Hanson, Miss Winnifred Hausen, Mrs. Wilbur Breunier, Miss Middleton, Mrs. Earl Fish, Hospitality—R. C. Gross, Mrs. R. W. Smith, Mrs. C. A. Blocher, Miss Mentzer, Mrs. Maurice Clutz, Mrs. Bert Morgan; Membership—Miss Ruth Phillips, Mrs. Canfield, Mrs. J. S. Patch, Mrs. Fred Krehl, Miss Emmert and Ira Buck. Publicity—Fred Gross, Bela R. Halderman and Miss Bean.

Mrs. F. D. Lahman and son Prof. C. P. Lahman and Miss Elizabeth Runyan were visitors in Harvey, Friday.

A card from Mrs. Medrick Hussey informs us that she and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Baker arrived safely in York, Pa., Friday. They stopped several places enroute, and had rainy weather across the Alleghenies but good luck all the way. The friends of these people wish the ma good vacation and a safe return home.

NOTRE DAME AND CHICAGO TO PRY OFF LID TODAY

Are the First of Western Grid Teams to Get Initial Tryout

Chicago, Sept. 20.—(AP)—Two inter-sectional battles, designed principally to test the speed and power of Notre Dame and the University of Chicago, topped the program as the 1925 football season was ushered in on nearly three score gridirons of the midwest today.

Notre Dame has a fighting opponent in Loyola University of New Orleans for its opener, while Chicago's varsity was to tackle the light but fast eleven from the University of South Carolina in the main event of a doubleheader, which also included a game between the Maroon reserves and Ripon College of Wisconsin.

While neither of the southern invaders was expected to win, indications were the games would be hard fought.

Indiana, which promises to make things interesting for Big Ten championship contenders this year, also had a doubleheader on its program, the most important half of which was the traditional contest with Washburn College. The "seconds" were to clash with Terre Haute State Normal. Both games were at Bloomington.

Other contests, which were a trifle above the rest in interest today, were those between St. Viator and Marquette University at Milwaukee and DePaul College at the University of Detroit.

Unsettled weather, with probable rain and winds, was forecast for most games.

Watching the Big Scoreboard

BY HERBERT W. BARKER

(Associated Press Sports Writer)

It was a long painful journey but the New York Yankees finally have staggered to their sixth American League pennant in eight years and, barring an unexpected upset in the National League, will face the St. Louis Cardinals in the world's series. An 11 to 6 victory over the Detroit Tigers yesterday clinched the 1924 pennant for the world's champions of 1927 and gave little Miller Huggins his first chance to breathe freely in months.

Baseball's long history reveals few such form reversals as characterized the Yankees' play this season. For more than two months Miller's machine mowed down all opposition relentlessly, and gained a thirteen and a half game lead over the field but beset by injuries, particularly to Herb Pennock and Tony Lazzeri, the champions slowed down almost to a walk. Simultaneously, Connie Mack applied the spurs to his Philadelphia Athletics who responded with a spurt that finally carried them to the front by half a game on September 8.

Their vaunted supremacy put to a real test, the Yankees rallied their forces for a final stand, crushed the A's thrice in a four-game series and returned to the lead, never again to surrender it.

It was a gallant fight Connie Mack made for his first pennant since 1914 but his Athletics were not quite equal to the task. In the final analysis it was the A's own inability to defeat the Yankees that caused their downfall. In 22 games with the champions, the Mackmen won only six.

"Murderer's Row" performed in all its power in the pennant-winning game against the Tigers. George Pipgras was given a seven-run lead by the time the fifth inning had rolled around and he was not extended to win. Babe Ruth hit his third home run in as many days and his 13rd of the season in the eighth inning with Koenig on base.

Fighting to the last gasp, the A's walloped the Chicago White Sox, 7 to 5, but the Yankees victory made it impossible for the Mackmen to win even if they take their last two games while the champions lose two.

While the Yanks were taking their third pennant in a row, the St. Louis Cardinals virtually clinched the National League pennant at Boston where they beat the Braves, 10 to 3 in 15 innings, while the runners-up, John McGraw's New York Giants, were submitting to a 7 to 5 trouncing by the Chicago Cubs. This left the Cardinals leading by two games with only two more games to be played. The worst they can get now is a tie and one victory, or a Giant defeat will give them the pennant without further argument.

Also-rans completed the major schedule yesterday.

Alvin Crowder, leading hurler in the American League, pitched the St. Louis Browns to a 4 to 3 victory over the Washington Senators, recording his 21st victory in the process.

Jack Russell shaded a recruit, Wesley Farrell, in a hurling duel at Cleveland and the Boston Red Sox beat the Indians, 1 to 0.

OREGON TRIMMED ROCK FALLS AND ROCHELLE COPPED

Ogle County Team in an Easy Victory Over Whiteside Team

Oregon, Sept. 20.—The usually ferocious wildcats from the Rock Falls fair are tame this year for no other reason than they lack the drive and punch of a Pignatelli or an Egan—names long remembered in the rosters of Coach Akeys teams of yore. And it took a fighting, charging team from Oregon to prove the case today and tell the smaller schools of northern Illinois that Ogle county has more than one good grid eleven in action this fall.

Last week the Rock River Valley conference gained a 7 to 6 decision over the Big Seven loop when Rochelle downed DeKalb for the first time in history. Today the little Black Hawk league plucked a plume from the proud coating of a Valley conference entry when those Oregon high school lads ran their steam roller over Rock Falls, 25 to 0.

Unheralded power showed itself in the 1925 football machine of Coach Otto Meiridierks here today when it worked smoothly to capture the opening game of the season at the fair grounds. Blessed with fast and heavy material in the backfield, and a reserve back with equal assets, all behind a heavy line led by Captain H. Laughlin, Oregon showed superiority in every department of play to bowl over Rock Falls.

Rochelle, Sept. 23.—Coach Forrest Birks' Rochelle high school football team coasted easily into its second victory of the season here this afternoon, when it defeated Genoa, 32-12. In the process Coach Birks was able to utilize three teams.

All of the Rochelle scoring was done in the first and third quarters, when the first and third teams, the second Rochelle team held the foe even in the second quarter. In the fourth quarter the third Rochelle eleven allowed the invaders two touchdowns.

The first downs were made by the Rochelle team to three for Genoa. Putnam and I. Skinner did the Genoa scoring while Walker, Cooper, Nutt and Russell went over with the Rochelle touchdowns. Walker doing the trick twice. Cooper booted over three goals after touchdowns.

What Averages of Big Leagues Show

IN NATIONAL LEAGUE

New York, Sept. 20.—(AP)—The National League moves to the close of its season tomorrow with Rogers Hornsby, now manager of the Braves, in full possession of his seventh individual batting championship but his first since his departure from St. Louis two years ago.

Hornsby first gained the peak in 1920 and remained up there through 1925 for a run of six straight champ-

Ohio Girl, 22, is Shot in Head As Dry Officers Fire on Auto

Here is the first picture of Miss Betty Heywood, 22, of Elyria, O., who was shot in the head and seriously wounded by city dry officers at Lorain, O., when they fired on her father's car. Richard Heywood, the father, failed to stop at the agent's command as he feared they might be highwaymen and the volley followed. The three officers, members of the Lorain mayor's liquor squad, were jailed pending outcome of the girl's wound.

ions and a few National League mark.

Then burdened with the added cares of managing a big league club, the St. Louis star in 1926, his first full season as a team pilot, led his charges through to the first National League pennant St. Louis ever won, but lost his batting crown in the mixup. Traded to New York, he hit hard but not hard enough to prevent Paul Waner of Pittsburgh from scampering off with the 1927 title.

The elder Waner continued to annoy Hornsby this season, and as recently as two weeks ago was actually in the lead—for the first time. Waner's battle in reaching the top seemed to sap his strength so that he topped almost immediately. And now, with Hornsby "in", it isn't even close. The Boston manager owned a dandy mark of .391 in 137 games today against Paul Waner's .377 in 150.

The averages issued today include games of last Wednesday. They show the other leaders to be: Klein, Philadelphia, .362; Lindstrom, New York, .356; Sisler, Boston, .342; Roettger, St. Louis, .341; Hafey, St. Louis, .339; Richbourg, Boston, .338; and Herman, Brooklyn, .337.

While the older of the Waner boys surrendered to Hornsby in the big race, enough of the minor crowns rested on the Pirate's head to satisfy almost any player. He led in runs scored with 140, and in doubles with 51. In addition to holding a tie with Jim Bottomley of St. Louis in triples, of which each had 19. Cuyler of Chicago cranes into this moropol for the lead in stolen bases with 36. P. Waner and Lindstrom of New York were tied with total hits, each with 233.

Bottomley also was leading Hack Wilson of Chicago by the thin margin of one home run in a spirited duel. Sunny Jim had 31 against Hack's thirty, with Chick Hafey of St. Louis holding 27 and third place Del Bissonette of Brooklyn had 25. Larry Benton, the Giant ace, had clinched pitching honors with 25 victories and only eight defeats for a percentage of .758.

IN AMERICAN LEAGUE

Chicago, Sept. 20.—(AP)—General Alvin Crowder of the St. Louis Browns appears to have clinched the individual pitching honors of the 1924 American League season, but the batting race probably won't be decided until official averages are compiled.

Unofficial averages including games of Wednesday show "Goose" Goslin, veteran Washington outfielder, forged ahead of his rival, Heinie Manush, St. Louis, during the week, hiking his average to .376 or three points better than that of Manush. Lou Gehrig, with an average of .369, appeared out of the race.

The other seven leaders in their order:

Simmons, Philadelphia, .348; Lazzeri, New York, .334; Fox, Philadelphia, .327; Cobb, Philadelphia, .327; Fonzeca, Cleveland, .325; E. Rice, Washington, .324, and Hodapp, Cleveland, .324.

Crowder, whose pitching has been one of the big surprises of the season, clinched this season, virtually clinched the pitching title during the week, when he won two games, bringing his mark to 20 won and five lost or a percentage of .800.

Cleveland's fast infield completed six more double plays during the week for a total of 182 which tied the American League record established by Washington in 1923. The Indians also completed the only two triple plays of the season.

Other leaders:

Team batting, New York, .295;

team fielding, Boston, .973; strike outs, Grove, Philadelphia, 173; team runs, New York, 854; fewest opponents' runs, Philadelphia, 602; individual runs, Ruth, New York, 153; stolen bases, Myer, Boston, 29; home runs, Ruth, New York, 50.

Four Managers, Two Fighters Suspended

(Telegraph Special Service)
Chicago, Sept. 20.—Failure to post forfeits and deliver contracts in accordance with the Illinois Athletic Commission five day ruling cost four managers and two boxers 30 day suspensions at the weekly meeting of the Commission.

Jim Mullen's show, staged September 20, yielded suspensions for Eddie Shea, West Side featherweight, Eddie Anderson, Moline lightweight battler, Eddie Long and Eddie McGovern. Long drew the suspension as manager for Tommy Cello, San Francisco lightweight and McGovern as Babe Ruth's handler.

Jack Art's battle September 25 rested the ire of the commission on Bill Yeager and H. J. Stickle. Yeager serves as manager for Ernie Owens, Pacific coast battler, while Stickle acts in the same capacity for Jack Munroe, Chicago negro battler.

Commissioners Paul Prehm, Sam Luzzo and Al Mann sanctioned promoter Mique Malloy's ten round windup for White City, October 8, when Jack Berg, English fighter, will meet Spug Meyers of Pocatello, Idaho.

The hope of avoiding such undersea disasters as befell the S-4 and S-51 now lies in this 1906 model submarine, Defender. CATARACTS OF THE EYE

Inside the eyeball and just behind the iris there is a clear, transparent lens which is for the purpose of converging the rays of light just as does a lens in a telescope. This crystalline lens is transparent, but may become opaque in old people or as the result of an accident in young people. When this occurs the condition is termed a cataract.

Many people have the mistaken belief that a cataract is a growth in or on the eye, but this is not true. Sometimes a growth appears on the outside of the eye, going from the inner corner over the surface of the eye, and may even cover the pupil. This growth is not a cataract but is termed a "pterygium" and while not serious, may be removed by a slight operation.

The crystalline lens, being transparent, is obviously not nourished by blood which would give it a red color. It is nourished by absorbing the clear transparent lymph from surrounding tissues. When this lymphatic circulation becomes closed or filled with irritating toxins, it is apt to cause an opaqueness of the crystalline lens termed a "cataract." This interference with the circulation of the lymph is caused by deposits and sluggishness or by inflammation of the eye from eye strain in old people, but it may be caused in young folks by cuts or bruises of the eye that interfere with its circulation.

Most cases of cataract are seen between the ages of sixty and seventy-five, and in almost every instance there is the history of some chronic trouble that has been present over the course of twenty or twenty-five years, such as constipation, liver trouble, goitre, diabetes and pellagra. When these cases are very far advanced they can only be operated on. The operation removes the lens which can be partly compensated for by wearing thick glasses. In many instances, the operation is successful enough to permit the patient to read, but in other cases complete blindness may result.

At the first appearance of a cloudiness of the crystalline lens, strict dietetic treatment should begin at once. In addition to this, exercises of the eye should be used at least twice daily to stimulate the circulation. I have prepared a special article on exercises for strengthening the eye, which I will be glad to mail to anyone who will send me a large, self addressed, stamped envelope.

INCREASING THE VITAL FORCE

The disappearance of the eminent financier, Alfred J. Lowenstein, produced a marked deflation of the stock in his companies. While the idea of modern business is not to depend upon one individual, we find that in practically every case an organization is built around one man's personality and ideals.

A very large proportion of business failures can undoubtedly be traced to ill health. A man in top-notch condition has the power to rebuild a new success upon the ashes of his old failure.

A man whose brain is deadened by fatigue poisons, and by toxins that have been retained in his body through the inactivity of his eliminating organs, cannot expect to successfully compete with a man whose mind and energy are concentrated on the object that he desires to obtain.

I have conducted a series of experiments with the mentalities of patients before and after various types of diets and fasting regimes, and I have yet to see a case that has not been improved and brightened mentally after the body has been freed of some of its toxic materials.

One of the greatest handicaps to a clear mentality is a sluggish circulation. Unless the brain is being constantly replenished with a new food supply, it has not the energy to perform its functions properly. If the toxins which form as a result of mental activity are not removed promptly, the brain is poisoned by its own waste products.

The only method of securing a rich blood supply to the brain is through using vigorous exercises at least twice daily.

The principal aim of exercising is not to develop an imposing muscular physique, with bulging muscles. Exercise has a more important purpose than building the muscular system; it causes the heart to beat faster and the circulation to speed up. To those who desire the attainment of success, this is the most important benefit of exercise.

The comforts or conveniences of civilization tend to produce a physical degeneracy in ourselves, and we must combat this tendency by using out-of-door games and athletic sports. Every person who is doing indoor work should be an active member of at least one athletic club. Most progressive men realize the need of the best care of their bodies.

I am acquainted with one of the wealthiest men in the country who employs a physical director at the modest salary of $1000 a month. This physical instructor has no other duty than to make this financier get up every morning and exercise, whether he feels like it or not. After a half hour of various callisthenics, the financier is given a vigorous rub-down, followed by hot and cold showers.

Our greatest physical and mental enjoyment can only come when we realize—"A healthy mind in a healthy body."

We should at all times have an abundance of strength at our command and the ability of sustained effort; we should have a grace that comes from a perfect control of our muscles and nervous system; a symmetry of figure that gives us a good presence and appearance before others; and above all, mental alertness and good nature that can only come from clean living and regular, wholesome recreation.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Question: Mrs. A. M. asks: "Will you please tell me if dizziness at times, and a tired feeling all the time, are signs of high blood pressure? I am 46 years old, and a poor sleeper."

Answer: The only way to tell whether or not you have high blood pressure is to have an examination made by the use of the sphygmomanometer, which is an instrument for measuring blood pressure. The dizziness in your insomnia may come from high blood pressure, but one with this disorder is seldom bothered by being usually tired. He generally has plenty of energy, but becomes dizzy upon extreme exertion.

Question: Mrs. W. L. asks: "What do you advise one to do when at a party like bridge in a private home of friends, when refreshment time comes, and rich or highly seasoned cakes, or other delicacies or drinks are served? Folks laugh when you say you are on a diet, and it is so common an excuse among the fleshly-inclined ladies. This is really a problem, and your advice will be appreciated by a host of us."

Answer: If you are sick and actually trying to overcome a disease, you should stick to your diet under all circumstances, but if you are in a good state of health you may occasionally indulge in some dessert. It is better not to use the more complicated kind, but stick to ice cream or some fruit, or fruit drink.

Question: J. D. asks: "Will you please tell me if hot baths are harmful to varicose veins? Also, is it advisable to wear an elastic bandage, and how should it be worn, evenly or criss-crossed?"

Answer: Hot applications will relieve the pain from varicose veins, but it is much better to always use cold applications, with wet, cold cloths or with ice. This will shrink the veins more to their normal size. If plenty of ice treatment is used it will not be necessary to wear an elastic stocking or bandage. However, if the bandage is used it should be put on criss-crossed.

Question: H. J. writes: "I have a swollen gland in my neck and am writing to you to ask what is good for it. I have had it lanced a couple of times but after awhile it seems to come back. It doesn't hurt me. I am a strong healthy girl of sixteen and some people say I will outgrow it but I don't think so."

Answer: Your only hope to cure the swollen gland is to take a careful diet which will not overload your lymphatic circulation. It is best for a short time to eliminate all of the heavy foods such as starches, meats, etc., and live on fruits and green vegetables for a month or two and give your glands a chance to empty themselves of any accumulated wastes. Lancing only injures the glands still further, and extends the trouble to other glands nearby. Hot applications or electrical treatments are sometimes helpful in emptying out the swollen glands.

Question: H. L. G. asks: "How much water should a person drink during the day?"

Answer: The quantity of water used depends upon your bodily necessities and these vary in each individual case. A good rule to use is to take as much water as necessary to keep the urine a light color. If the urine ever becomes dark during the day it is a sign you are not using enough water. The additional water should be taken between meals and not with food.

Question: G. H. J. asks: "Will you kindly explain the best course to follow for a tubercular hip?"

Answer: The treatment for a tubercular hip would depend upon the exact condition of the tubercular change which has taken place. A diet treatment is always essential to a cure, though sometimes various physiotherapy treatments will prove effective in bringing about a cure. Complete rest is sometimes necessary, but only in advanced cases.

Money in the bank is a great thing, but money invested in modernizing your home or farm buildings is even a better proposition for you. Come in now and talk it over with us. Our helpful advice will cost you nothing.

Yes, if the law required you to re-roof every year it would be all right to buy the cheapest roofing, but as long as the roof on your home is supposed to remain there for years, you can well afford to pay a little more and get a genuine MULE-HIDE ROOF.

I want you to understand that I'm not two-faced. Certainly not, my dear. If you had two, you certainly wouldn't wear that one.

We notice that pa-

Rastus (a witness): "Deed she was, sah. Ah knows expensive garbage when I sees it."

Tough, but pretty. No, we are not speaking of girls, we mean MULE-HIDE, that long wearing roofing.

Saddest Event of the Month: A young lady was assisting in a rummage sale, and when she took off her new hat somebody said it for thirty cents.

This Bank was organized more than seventy-two years ago at the time when the railroads had just been built into Dixon, and when good Lee County land could be purchased from the Government at $1.25 per acre. The sound, conservative banking policies adopted by the officers of this Bank, who were the pioneers of those days, have been consistently followed. This Bank has been continuously successful for nearly three quarters of a century. You will find a welcome here. We keep in close touch with you and your banking needs.
